BRITISH WAR DEBT IS FINAL SUBJECT AT WHITE HOUSE

MacDonald, Leaving Today, and Roosevelt Announce That Subject of Debts Has Been Exhaustively "Explored."

U. S. IS RECEPTIVE TO WAR TREATY

French Envoy and President Discuss Consultative Pact; Congressmen
Meet All Visitors.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(P)—Enthused over the progress for new world money and trade relations, President Roosevelt tonight reviewed the British war debt problem with Prime Minister MacDonald and announced with him that the basis of a clear understanding of the situation had been reached.

He took up the controversial debt issue with Mr. MacDonald alone after a final conference with British and American economic experts—a fact which led to reports of an understanding on the proposals for general economic recovery.

It was stated reliably that Mr. Roosevelt was impressed immeasurably by the achievements of the Anglo-American conversations and a statement of accomplishments was predicted for tomorrow. He did not bring up the French plan for debt relief. Both Great Britain and France were understood to be asking the limit on aid for the June 15 payments.

MacDonald Leaves Today.

The joint statement of Mr. Roosevelt and the Prime Minister MacDonald simply announced the subject of debts was taken up and further conferences would be held.

Later the president received together with Mr. MacDonald, M. Herriot, French envoy, and Prime Minister Bennett of Canada, the members of the Senate foreign relations and house foreign affairs committees in the White House.

The reception by the members of congress with the French emissary was taken as a token of good will although France failed to make her debt payment due last December 15.

With Mr. MacDonald leaving tomorrow, conferences with the newspapers were arranged with him for early morning and also with Mr. Roosevelt for later in the day.

Meanwhile, Mr. Roosevelt made good on his part of his talks with Edouard Herriot, promised France with a growing possibility that the road to disarmament may be smoothed by an anti-war consultative committee in which the United States would join.

Text of Statement.

In summarizing their study of the debt problem, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald said:

"During the day the prime minister and the president have discussed the problems of the debt of the British government to the United States government. Both have faced the realities and the obligations and both believe that as a result there is laid the basis of a clear understanding of the situation affecting the two nations.

"It would be wholly misleading to MADISON, Wis., April 25.—(P)—Delegates to Wisconsin's constitutional convention, 14 men and 1 woman, held up business of the legislature at the capitol today while they cast Wisconsin's vote in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The vote was unanimous, a formal ratification of the will of Wisconsin citizens who on April 4 elected a solid repealist delegation to the state convention by a vote of 650,000 to 14,000.

The convention met in the assembly chamber. Some spectators sang "How Dry I Am" as delegates entered. The playful mood passed with the appearance of Chief Justice Marvin Root, who administered the oath to the delegates.

The convention then proceeded with discussion to its single piece of business, the vote on a simple resolution stating that Wisconsin ratifies the proposed twenty-first amendment to the federal constitution submitted by the congress.

According to the Michigan, was the second state to ratify repeal of federal prohibition. To become effective, the amendment must be ratified by 34 more states.

SENATE PASSAGE OF INFLATION BILL EXPECTED TODAY

Democratic Leaders Con- fident Despite Report of Compromise To Gain Consideration for Silver

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(P)—President Roosevelt's inflation project was the subject of stormy debate in the senate today with republicans denouncing it as unconstitutional and an "unavoidable shock to confidence" and democrats defending it as a "conservative measure with no wild inflation in it."

Although several compromises were reported in the making—efforts to strike out authorization for reducing the gold content of the dollar in the re-stabilization plan—silver was not included in the bill, and administration leaders predicted its passage tomorrow virtually as presented.

Assailing a trio of republican opponents late in the day and directing them to the chamber of their colleagues, Reed, republican Pennsylvania, leader of the opposition, Senator Pat Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, charged Andrew W. Mellon was in a "conspiracy" with Ogden L. Mills and Reed to defeat the legislation.

Practically all the republicans for his "vision, courage and broad statesmanship" in seeking the power to stabilize currencies and asserted:

"This is a conservative measure. There's no wild inflation in it, where will put the blame on the banks and the banks will pay the price. This proposal means a better day for America. It means that thousands on the verge of bankruptcy can come back and that thousands of banks on the verge of closing their doors can keep open."

Senator Reed denied he had conferred with Secretary Mellon on the inflation plan.

"Mr. Mills isn't in the east until Friday," Reed came back.

"I'm not as fast as he could come," Harrison retorted, "but he doesn't know whether he used a plane."

Earlier in the day, Reed formally opened the opposition attack with a declaration that the inflation proposal was unconstitutional and "unconstitutional power" to give the president.

"The power for which President Roosevelt is asking is without precedent in our governmental history," he asserted.

"The constitution gives the power to regulate currency to congress and does not give us the power to regulate."

It is suggested that this power is not expected to be exercised. Why ask it? Why should we expose the president to the folly of propaganda to which we ourselves are being subjected?"

Reed said the president would be

2-Year-Old Girl's Eye Is Removed by Doctor

NEW YORK, April 25.—(P)—Two-year-old Helen Vasco underwent the operation today that two courts ordered, after doctors said it was necessary to save her life, and that her parents for weeks had opposed because it means the loss of her left eye.

The surgery took just 15 minutes. It was performed by Dr. John H. Dunnington, assistant to Dr. John M. Wheeler, who removed a cataract from the eye of the king of Spain in 1931.

The little girl's condition afterward was described at the Presbyterian hospital as "entirely satisfactory," but physicians said her chances would have been better if the growth on her eye had been removed when it first was discovered.

If Helen's eye is removed, she will expect her to shell out of the hospital in a week or 10 days, and in about a month her eye socket will have healed and a blue glass eye will take the place of the one she lost.

Meanwhile, the house received the semi-substitutes for the two house-approved bills to legalize and tax beer and wine and the four bills on state-wide prohibition and taxation committees. The prohibition committee soon reported favorably on three of the four bills after amending them to include fruit juices up to 3.2 per cent alcoholic content.

Gold Holders Warned
As 'Dead Line' Nears

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(P)—Secretary Woodin today called attention to the approach of the effective date of the president's anti-gold hoarding order, requiring that all gold be delivered to federal reserve banks, branches or agencies on or before next Monday under penalty of a $10,000 fine or 10 years' imprisonment or both.

He further said a final effort was being made by the treasury to acquaint the public with the requirements of the president's order and the criminal penalties provided for violations by forwarding to every post office and every banking institute a printed notice for public display.

The vote was unanimous, a formal ratification of the will of Wisconsin citizens who on April 4 elected a solid repealist delegation to the state convention by a vote of 650,000 to 14,000.

The convention met in the assembly chamber. Some spectators sang "How Dry I Am" as delegates entered. The playful mood passed with the appearance of Chief Justice Marvin Root, who administered the oath to the delegates.

Publishers' Survey Shows Marked Upturn in Trade

NEW YORK, April 25.—(P)—A marked improvement in public confidence and in general business conditions was noted today by newspaper publishers from widespread industrial and agricultural areas.

In the south, Clark Howell, of The Atlanta Constitution, said the reaction to pending legislation already has been extremely favorable as shown in an increase of cotton prices of approximately 1.12 cents a pound."

Mr. Howell said he felt "this is due more to the inflation program than to reaction to the farm relief program."

So long as kept under control, as it can be under pending legislation, I think the effect of inflation will be to increase commodity prices. That is the keynote of returning prosperity."

The publisher said that "while the Kansas City Star has been an advocate of sound money, we have not alarmed over the inflation program."

MOONEY CHARGE MAY BE QUASHED

Motion for Dismissal of Unused Indictment by Prosecutor Expected.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—(P)—Whether the newly-granted trial for Tom Mooney, opening here tomorrow, would be given a full court and jury hearing or be restricted or entirely checkmated by legal complications appeared problematical tonight. Attorneys for both sides have refused to disclose their hands.

An intimation District Attorney Mathias J. Brady, in this case an unwilling prosecutor, might again seek dismissal of the long dormant murder indictment which formed the basis for the case, was the only official hint of the state's plans. Brady said he "might possibly" make such a move. Brady has been given those favoring a trial for Mooney.

The defense, marshalling its forces for opening the case, made a last-minute request of Brady to present in evidence the original transcript of prosecution testimony which resulted in Mooney's conviction of murder. Brady, it is said, has said he would not present any evidence in which he lacked faith.

Seeking an opportunity to discredit or impeach the state's original testimony in light of events since the conviction, defense attorneys proceeded on the theory if Brady would give them the chance, the defense would now obtain an acquittal and thus morally if not legally strengthen Mooney's long fight for a pardon.

Knocked Down by Car, Man Seriously Hurt

Struck by an automobile, T. P. Maddox, 50, of 2451 Memorial drive, S. E., was in a serious condition Tuesday night at Grady hospital, according to attaches. His right arm is fractured and he has a possible fracture of the skull.

Maddox was hit by a car driven by Naomi Smith, negro woman, of 24 Jephtha street, on Mitchell street near Broad. The woman said Maddox walked from behind a parked car directly into the path of her machine. Police made no case.

FRICOTRY EXPECTED
BY MANCHUKUO RULER

TOKYO, April 25.—(P)—Tukuzo Komai, privy councillor for Manchukuo, said today that reciprocity by other nations was presupposed in the Manchukuo government's promise of an open door policy.

Other countries recognizing Manchukuo alone would be benefited by the policy, the councillor declared, adding that although the principle of reciprocity between nations would generally follow recognition, countries doing business in the state which show friendliness to the Changchun regime will be given special facilities and treatment.

FRANCO-JAP RELATIONS ARE BELIEVED STRAINED

PARIS, April 25.—(P)—Close relations between France and Japan are placed in jeopardy today by far eastern developments which at the same time are strengthening Franco-Russian friendship.

Official quarters have called attention to this evolution in the foreign policy of the French government by churian railway crisis. France joins churian railway crisis. France joins Russia in regarding with anxiety the charge that Japan is fomenting a plot to have Manchukuo seize the disputed railway.

NEW CONSTITUTION SEEN FOR MANCHUKUAN STATE

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, April 26.—(Wednesday)—(UP)—Any immediate prospect of Japan restoring Henry Pu-yi, regent of the new state of Manchukuo, to the throne of China, appeared today to have been relegated to the background by the Manchukuo cabinet.

Advices were received that Japanese counselors of the new state have appointed a commission of 22 to examine American and other liberal constitutions with a view to evolving a democratic fundamental law for Manchukuo. The new law would replace the present vaguely defined provisional constitution, and Pu-yi would be installed as the chief executive.

The commission is expected to seek methods of enfranchising Manchukuo's 34,000,000 inhabitants and of creating a modern judicial system.

Drunkenness Is No Crime
In City of New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, April 25.—(P)—Being befuddled and blotto is no crime in New Orleans, provided one is not disturbingly so, the city attorney ruled today after an exhaustive search of the statutes dealing with inebriation.

The opinion was prepared at the request of the police department which had been informed of the matter of handling public drunkards, asserting that there is a fine line between drunkenness and disturbing the peace or disorderly conduct.

The opinion said in effect that one may stagger with immunity under the very eyes of a policeman, and that a drunk is not subject to arrest so long as he does not commit a disorderly conduct.

The city attorney declared that "no such offense as simple intoxication" is listed in the statutes, the nearest thing to a regulatory measure being an ordinance of 1856 prohibiting intoxicated persons from "making a violent noise, or other offense against the public peace."

20 Per Cent Business Increase For 1933 Predicted by Miller

Business this year will be at least 20 per cent better than last, and, although the road is still rough, the country is recovering. Dr. Steven J. Miller, of New York, director of economics for Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., told the members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday.

It was produced by Fred Sneed. Dr. Miller pointed out that the major nations of the world were striving for a new nationalism and that self-sufficiency was the keynote. He cited Japan's invasion of Manchuria, the Mussolini dictatorship in Italy, Hitler in Germany, as evidence of this governmental aspiration.

Five major developments marked

Bean Planting Delayed By Prophetic Whiskers

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark., April 22 (AP)—Benton county farmers are late with their bean planting because Bill Brixey hasn't cut his whiskers yet.

It has become a custom in the county to plant beans when Brixey shaves off a full winter's growth in the spring. He came to town the other day, started shave for the barber shop, but stopped at a cloud of clouds in the north and went home, declaring "it's not time yet."

Gardeners will wait at least another week for Brixey to shave.

The second reason for the situation. "The roads," Dr. Miller maintained, "can be merged successfully. But you can't leave that to the railroads themselves, or even to the interstate commerce commission." he warned.

"Undoubtedly unnecessary mileage could be eliminated and other changes made which would put the roads in the black."

He said that, third, liquidation was a good and necessary thing, and that the rise in commodity prices was not due to artificial government measures, but to shortage of crops.

The movement of the government to balance the budget, he further characterized as especially good in its effect, and Dr. Miller gave high praise to President Roosevelt for his appointment of Cordell Hull as secretary of state, who he said, was the leading authority on tariffs.

"And arbitration will figure extensively in the adjustment of world conditions," he added.

The fifth development, Dr. Miller pointed out, involved money.

"Yes, we are off the gold standard technically at least," he said. "We were off the gold standard when the president signed his proclamation. The day that the banks refused to give gold certificates marked our parting with the gold standard."

"But we are not inflated. We have used only a small portion of the additional currency issued, and the dollar is not greatly depreciated. Much currency is needed to prevent frozen credits. As prices recover, salaries and wages will temporarily suffer."

Dr. Miller said that in February he predicted in a speech in Baltimore that conditions in 1933 would be 20 per cent better than in 1932.

"The might have been considered too optimistic at the time," he added.

"but not now."

Al Capone's Appeal Will Be Heard Today

Al Capone will seek his release from the federal penitentiary here when his writ of habeas corpus, lost in the trial court, will be heard on an appeal in the circuit court of appeals at New Orleans today. Hal Lindsay, assistant district attorney, already has gone to the Louisiana city to conduct the government's fight against the appeal.

The case reached the higher court when Capone, through his attorneys, appealed from the decision of Judge E. Marvin Underwood in upholding the government's motion to dismiss the writ of habeas corpus, on which he sought his freedom. The decision was made on January 25.

POLICE ARREST NEGRO IN HOLDUP OF STORE

Irwin Traylor, negro, of 29 Glenway court, was arrested on suspicion Tuesday night after he had been identified by Worth Johnson, negro, of 326 Martin street, and Clifford Moore, negro, of 342 Martin, as being one of two negroes who held up and robbed a grocery store at 120 Woodward avenue, of $5 on April 7. The negroes said they were in the store at the time. Traylor was arrested by Patrolmen H. V. Whitley and W. H. Frazier at Georgia avenue and Frazer street.

TENNESSEE OFFICER IS NEAR DEATH HERE

Shot two weeks ago, A. C. Orion, 25, a U. S. marshal, at Cooper Hill, Tenn., was in a serious condition Tuesday at the Piedmont hospital. He is to be given a blood transfusion today, hospital attaches said.

Orion was wounded when he attempted to quell a disturbance created by a Georgia negro at Cooper Hill, his relatives said. He was brought to Atlanta for treatment by a younger brother, Lee Orion, 18, who gave blood for the first transfusion several days ago following an operation by physicians to relieve pressure on the spine caused by a bullet. Orion was born Tuesday and slept quietly for the first time but doctors thought another transfusion will be necessary today. Another brother will donate the blood.

THE WORLD AND ROOSEVELT.

The reception given to Senator Robinson's speech by hundreds of American newspaper editors, gathered in New York for the annual meeting of the Associated Press, and the clearly evident optimism of M. Herriot after his conference with President Roosevelt, are significant of the confidence felt not only in this country but abroad in the ability of the president to successfully carry through the epochal program of relief and reform he has put under way.

This confidence is all the more striking because, as pointed out by Senator Robinson, speaking for the president before the editors assembled in New York, the situation faced by the new administration "made it necessary to experiment to steer the ship of state on a new course, even though the course might not be fully charted."

Despite the uncharted nature of some of the paths by which relief from burdens no longer bearable is being sought, the people of this country, and to but little less degree those of other nations of the world, have been aroused to new hope by the boldness and incisiveness of his attack, and by the firm belief that President Roosevelt will adhere to his promise to be the first to abandon such plans as do not achieve the results for which they were evolved.

Many of the plans are radical in nature, but President Roosevelt has realized, and the people as a whole are unquestionably in full agreement, that the time has passed when the attack on the evils which have brought the world to its present plight can be planned and executed in an overconservative and necessarily slow-going manner.

For upwards of four years a distressed world has seen one makeshift plan of relief fail after another, leaving conditions invariably worse off than they were before these efforts to correct fundamental evils by superficial means.

What the world has needed to revive its faith and commerce is leadership and action, and President Roosevelt has, to an unprecedented degree, furnished both in the few short weeks since his inauguration.

It is not surprising that the people not only of this country, but of every civilized nation, should have reacted as they have to the virility of leadership and the incisiveness of action emanating from the White House, despite the fact that some of the proposed plans seek relief along uncharted courses.

SPANISH VOTE SURPRISING.

The returns from the country-wide local elections in Spain, in which a two-to-one opposition to the present government was registered, is surprising because the lack of disturbance in that country during the past six or eight months had led to the general belief that the political troubles which came as the aftermath of the overthrow of Alfonso had been finally smoothed over.

The municipal elections in Spain carry the same significant revelation of the pulse of the people with regard to national policies as do the off-year congressional elections in the United States. Just as the elections in this country in 1930 foretold the republican collapse to come in 1932, these local elections in Spain are certain barometers of widespread public dissatisfaction with the acts and policies of the Madrid government.

It is of particular significance that the greatest gains made in the elections was by the agrarian party, which was formed and is controlled by former monarchists. While the results of the election are undoubtedly more of a protest against the present make-up of the national cabinet than against the form of government, the increasing strength of the royalist party has an import which carries no small threat to the future peace of the nation.

In view of the announcement by opposition leaders of passive resistance plans, to include opposition to all government projects, the downfall of the present cabinet will not be surprising.

THE NEW BANKRUPTCY RULES.

On Monday new rules prescribed by the supreme court governing the handling of bankruptcy cases became effective and are expected, together with new forms authorized by the court for use in such cases, to relieve the operation of the bankruptcy law of much of the delay which has heretofore worked a hardship to both creditors and debtors.

The new rules and forms will apply to all bankruptcy, farm relief and railroad reorganization proceedings and effect sweeping changes in the administration of bankruptcy cases, the appointment of receivers and the selection of attorneys.

The manner in which the new regulations are expected to speed up and make more effective the administration of bankrupt firms and estates is succinctly summarized by Max Isaacs, editor of the American Bankruptcy Review, as follows:

Referees in bankruptcy are given broader authority and are required to furnish creditors a summary of the outcome of the estates in all cases except no-asset cases. They are also placed under greater responsibility in connection with the administration of the estates. Authority is conferred upon them to dispose of certain compositions under the act. Receivers and trustees in bankruptcy are charged with greater responsibilities and the time on notices heretofore required under the law has been materially shortened. The selection of lawyers for the receiver or trustee and their compensation has been placed under more rigid qualifications and restrictions, not only to prevent collusion but to limit their compensation to employment for specific purposes unless the court is satisfied that the case is one justifying a general retainer. Full disclosure of the lawyer's connections with adverse interests is required and if the lawyer has not disclosed such adverse interests, the court may deny the allowance of any fee or even the reimbursement of expenses. The receiver or trustee is required to make diligent inquiry into the connections of such attorney and his compensation may be denied if he fails to do his full duty in this respect. Exception is made, however, in railroad receivership proceedings, whereby attorneys of the railroad corporation, or associated with its legal department, in connection with the operation of the business of the railroad by a trustee or trustees under the new act, may be employed where the court finds that to be in the public interest and not adverse to the interests of the trustees or the creditors of the railroad.

The new rules and forms are prescribed by the supreme court for use in proceedings brought under the bankruptcy act recently passed by congress, and are designed to further reduce the losses and uncertainties incident to such litigation.

The delays incident to the final adjudication of bankruptcy proceedings, stretching sometimes over periods of years, have frequently worked to the disadvantage of both creditors and debtors and, indirectly, to entire industries. These delays have, in most instances, added to, rather than lessened, the losses incident to business insolvencies, because of the long-drawn-out tying up of capital, the heavy expense involved and amount of time and effort required in the negotiations for final settlements.

The new law is designed to reduce to the lowest possible minimum the number of bankruptcy proceedings and thus reduce the unsettling effect on business conditions generally. The new rules and forms are another step toward the same end. They should have a stabilizing effect on business generally.

Of course Mr. Roosevelt deserves praise, but think how many commissions could have spent a year getting data for what he's done.

What a language! Sending 250,000 of us into the forest to get us out of the woods.

An educated man is one who knows which retaliation a nation is retaliating for.

Another unique feature of the new money is that you know it never has been stolen.

A prophet is not without honor. And people are beginning to suspect that honor is not without profit.

Dry agents may stop buying evidence to get a conviction, but men still buy it to get an acquittal.

Anyway, public eagerness for this new money proves that Uncle Sam's word is as good as his bond.

Telegraph stock will be a good buy so long as congress threatens to disturb pensions and such things.

To the true prohibitionist, however, 3.2 beer is still rum.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Rome Feels

Proud.

All efforts to extract Mussolini from his seclusion and bring him to attend one of the many international conferences during the last few years have failed. He simply refused to budge. Once in the very beginning he came as far as Lausanne, but he returned only for a day and hastily returned home. Since that no chance. He won't budge.

But behold the other day Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of England, chief of the government of the mighty British empire, goes to Rome, accompanied by the foreign secretary. No wonder the Italian papers exulted. All eyes were on the center of the world's fame.

Observe the glittering dome of a public building or a place of worship. The thing that glitters is gold. It covers letters and figures of a thousand signs on every business street of every city. It ornaments millions of people. It is made into watch cases and rings and countless trinkets of jewelry, and it fills the cavities in neglected teeth and in time will be buried with them.

Thus does impovish himself to feed his vanity. For want of the gold thus wasted the world's commerce is strangled, men look in vain for work, families lose their homes and thousands die in want.

For gold is the magic metal that gives value to currency, and each dollar of sound currency supports many dollars' worth of credit, and credit is the foundation of the commerce that makes prosperity.

Would the wasted gold make times good? The answer is that newly discovered gold fields have ended depressions in the past.

How much gold is wasted? No man knows. The world's present monetary gold stock is a trifle over $41,900,000,000. Yet the world has mined $22,500,000,000 of gold in the last 450 years, and men have been digging it from the earth and winning it from river sands for 5,000 years.

Through the ages men have treasured it. Little has been lost except at sea. It does not rust or decay. The gold that Egypt's Pharaohs wore is somewhere today.

Yet eleven billion dollars' worth of the modern world's production is somewhere wasted and all that the ancients produced is somewhere idle.

Make it all into money and our problems are solved. To permit its use except in money is like permitting destruction of the air that men must have to live.

How Strange To Use Water for Lawns While Men Die of Thirst!

By Robert Quillen

Many years ago there was an island kingdom that had no rivers or streams of any kind and no rainfall. Water could be obtained only by drilling deep wells.

Being scarce and hard to get, water had a money value and was sold in the market place. The price was high and none but the rich could afford abundance.

There was enough for all, if everybody used it wisely, but wisdom was more rare than vanity. Rich people, wishing to make a show of their wealth, kept pools of water in their homes, bathed in fresh water every day, and even built fountains to splash in their front yards.

As a result of this extravagance, the land suffered a continual water famine. The poor were often thirsty and many of them died for want of anything to drink.

Even the well-to-do suffered indirectly, for they caught diseases from the unwashed and often their supplies of water were stolen.

That, you will say, is an impossible fable. People would not be so foolish as to waste the very water of life. But I assure you it is a true picture of mankind's stupid vanity, and the like of it can be found today.

Observe the glittering dome of a public building or a place of worship. The thing that glitters is gold. It covers letters and figures of a thousand signs on every business street of every city. It ornaments millions of people. It is made into watch cases and rings and countless trinkets of jewelry, and it fills the cavities in neglected teeth and in time will be buried with them.

VOTERS' COUNCIL ASKS COUNTY QUIZ

Interest that an investigation be conducted with public hearing by a duly constituted body to determine whether county officials have been honest and sufficiently adenfited to the extent that what saving is made of taxpayers' money as recommended by the grand jury."

Provision is made by law for such an investigation to be conducted by a committee of representative citizens to be set up for that purpose with authority to subpoena and examine witnesses, and require the production of books and papers, the resolution of the grand jury.

Mr. Longino suggested abolition of the ad valorem tax and enactment of a sales tax, charging that the ad valorem tax is an unfair system of taxation. "We should have a special session of the legislature to relieve real estate," he said.

Mr. Longino told the council that costs of government have mounted because of the economic situation, and said that the additional cost is being absorbed by the county without an increase in taxes. The committee has come up with a plan of its own to meet the problem, he said.

Mr. McDuffie said that the action taken Tuesday in the Boykin case is indicative of a "red herring," and that he knows nothing of the McRae-Boykin controversy, although "I voted for it."

"If the courts can control grand juries, we might as well do away with it, because it becomes a rubber stamp," Mr. McDuffie said.

Mr. McDuffie said that in rebuking the grand jury "Judge Humphries reprimanded the people, and that is a serious thing. The grand jury knows that it was within its power to do that, and it did not do it, with the result that the grand jury is an independent agency functioning through the courts; it is a sovereign body, the people acting on their own."

Mrs. R. L. Turman, of the League of Women Voters, reviewed the league's fight to get a non-partisan county survey of county affairs. J. E. Jackson, attorney, explained the machinery of registration for voting. R. K. Rambo presided.

Tonight members of the group were assigned to start in the log cabins scattered over the campus under growing trees.

Some time tomorrow or later if they choose the party will be approached by automobile on a tour of the various divisions of the schools which start the education of the mountain youth with the ABCs and turn out degree gradiates from one-year-olds.

Scientific, farming, mechanical studies, housekeeping, sewing and a multitude of other practical subjects are taught students in this unique school as an accompaniment to the formal education with practical experience in great farms and workrooms which not only serve as laboratories but also as models of the schools' needs and allow a larger percentage of the students to be almost entirely self-supporting.

Miss Berry described the party as "friends who are coming here for a quiet visit to see our work and to give us encouragement."

Warmer Forecast For Atlanta Today

Temperatures Tuesday ranged from 51 to 68 degrees. Today's extremes will be 55 and 72 degrees, the weatherman said.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Higher Culture.

BERLIN U. RECTOR'S DISMISSAL ASKED

Nazi Students Demand Resignation of 26 University Professors.

BERLIN, April 25.—(P)—Student demands for the resignation of the rector of Berlin University, the dismissal of 26 university professors, and plans for the "purging" of state and public libraries today advanced efforts of the new regime to "Germanize" culture in the Reich.

A confidante informed Edward Kohlrausch, rector magnificus of Berlin University, reached the point late today where nazi students demanded his resignation.

The trouble started when 12 theses, or pronouncements, against "un-German" culture, science, and art, were submitted to the rectorate. The rector and his board and the rector objected to two of the pronouncements, namely that "whatever a Jew writes German he lies," and "we demand that Jewish works appear in Hebrew; if they appear in German they must be labeled translations."

The students issued a declaration expressing surprise that Dr. Kohlrausch did not resign and denying that the rector had any right to criticize them.

Only professors imbued with the nazi spirit have the right to find fault with university students, said the spokesman, an anti-German spirit."

A committee has been entrusted with the task of "cleaning" the libraries. It has prepared a black list of books which will be collected and burned ceremoniously as a "symbolic act."

The Deutsche Zeitung said it learned that students throughout the Reich will erect pillars May 3 in the precincts of every university. On them the blacklisted books will be nailed before their destruction.

Students in Kiel University alone erected 2,000 pillars yesterday, volume. Today they demanded the removal of Jewish and "undesirable" professors from the university. At Heidelberg, Gerhard Aschuthe, professor of law and noted commentator on the republican constitution, resigned.

The Prussian minister of education today dismissed 18 professors in Frankfurt University, six in Goettingen University and two in Marburg "because they are Jews or leftists." The new regime also took possession of the chess world in which so many Jews have been prominent. All 12 chess clubs in Berlin have now been amalgamated in one federal "Grossdeutsche Schachbund" headed by a nazi, Herr Pruske.

The cabinet today adopted a law fixing the admittance of Jewish students in universities and state schools according to their ratio of the entire population.

Children whose fathers fought in German trenches during the World War, or one of whose parents in Aryan, were exempted.

Children of Jews who emigrated from the east after August 1, 1914, were completely barred.

AUSTRIAN FASCISTS BEGIN 10-DAY BOYCOTT ON JEWS

BUCHAREST, Romania, April 25.—(P)—Iron guard fascists of Bukovina province began their cue from German fascism and declared a boycott for 10 days beginning Thursday against all Jewish shops.

A committee was also organized to foster direct contracts with German firms, eliminating Jewish middlemen. There are branches of fascism in Romania, only one of which is strongly anti-Semitic.

German Church Body Plans Wide Reforms

BERLIN, April 25.—(P)—A German evangelical church commission at a meeting today, extended full powers to its president, Hermann Kappeler, in his efforts to draft a new Protestant constitution and to create a United German Evangelical Church Union.

The leading theologians and pastors he summoned to co-operate in the revising of the Protestant church constitution welcomed the reform, which "found the widest echo among the (affiliated) societies, especially youth."

It is understood that Kappeler's efforts are directed toward taking the wind out of the sails of the "German Christian" nazi movement by instituting a reform aimed at daily life, but without making it subservient to political leadership.

2 FLORIDANS DROWNED WHEN BOAT OVERTURNS

FERNANDINA, Fla., April 25.—(P)—W. C. Dean and Louis Martin, both of Jacksonville, were drowned today when the small boat in which they were fishing overturned at the south jetties.

M. C. Clark, also of Jacksonville, third occupant of the boat, swam to the rocks of the jetties and was rescued.

Uncle of Redfern, Lost Flyer, Is Believed Dead by Suicide

Backer of Futile Search Thought Dead After Discovery of Alleged Cruel Hoax.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 25.—(P)—Edwin C. Redfern, brother of Richard S. Redfern, who is believed by police to be the man who jumped from Veterans' Memorial bridge yesterday, said in a statement today he had received a farewell note from his brother which was "private and confidential."

Questioned in regard to a South American expedition in search of Paul Redfern, youthful aviator who disappeared in 1927 in an attempt to make a non-stop flight to Brazil, Redfern said he informed his brother regarding the search for his nephew was confidential and must remain so.

"It is public knowledge, however," Redfern said, "that an expedition did start from Para, Brazil, on the Amazon, under the leadership of one Tom Roche, and that my brother was interested in it. We never met any of the parties and I have nothing to do with their good or bad faith. The presumption would be that they intended to do right."

Redfern said he knew nothing further of the reported arrest of Roche in Rio de Janeiro, but that the report, published in a newspaper, was true.

Meanwhile police and coast guardsmen continued their search for the body of the man who leaped 200 feet to death, who they now are convinced was Redfern.

By BESSIE S. STAFFORD, Editor of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 25.—Under the leadership of Mrs. J. S. Howkins, president of Savannah Women's Federation, local clubwomen have been anticipating for many months the coming of the delegates of clubwomen arriving here for the opening Wednesday evening of the fifth biennial council of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. Preparations have gone forward looking to the comfort, pleasure, entertainment and happiness of the delegates and hospitable hostesses are standing by, awaiting the coming of the guests.

The holding of the fifth biennial council and thirty-seventh annual meeting in the historical city by the sea has more than ordinary significance, because clubwomen have been invited to take part in an episode in the biennial pageant, to be staged this week at the municipal stadium, in commemoration of the 200th birthday of the city.

Assembly 200 Years. It is General James Edward Oglethorpe and his companions landed at Yamacraw Bluff and founded the colony of Georgia. Here in 1933, exactly 200 years later, members of Georgia federation will assemble to attend the biennial pageant and to include in its council program features that will corroborate this auspicious and historical date.

The election of officers has been held every year, and the state organization has continued to be an unfaltering advocate of a consistently constructive agent for the best in Georgia.

Some 30,000 women are reached through its affiliated clubs and this band of earnest women can point with pride to a generation steadily stand for the maintenance of traditions and standards that have never been lowered since 1896. Georgia clubwomen are bending their united efforts upon such important movements as better homes, better schools, better health, better government, and better opportunities for all.

New Juvenile Mystery Story Holds Four-Fold Interest for Atlantans

"Spaniards' Mark," an entertaining volume written especially for juveniles and fresh from Macmillan Company's press, holds a fourfold interest for Atlantans. The Georgia interest in that it is written by two former Atlantans, is illustrated by a gifted Atlanta girl, and is based on the history of the Georgia coast settlements. Satisfying the popular demand for mystery novels, the authors present a situation of a mystery story against a background of historical facts, especially suitable for young people between the ages of 10 and 14.

Though the cover bears the name "Allan Dwight," the delightful story is the composite work of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Taylor, who until recently resided in Atlanta and have hosts of friends here. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Miss Lois Dwight Cole, and the signature for this, the first collaboration of these talented young writers, is a pseudonym made up of parts of both their names.

Cleverly Illustrated.

The attractive pen-and-ink drawings which adorn the pages of "Spaniards' Mark" and cleverly illustrate the story, are the work of Cornelia Cunningham, whom Atlanta proudly claims and lists among her foremost artists. Miss Cunningham formerly resided in Savannah, and is therefore thoroughly familiar with the country depicted in the story, the coastal region surrounding Savannah. This is the first work of fiction to carry illustrations by this gifted artist, though she is widely known through her portraits in oil and pastel, as well as through her charming sketches of old Savannah and New Orleans.

Miss Cunningham recently received wide acclaim for the drawing of the beautiful historical map of Georgia, published by W. B. Reynolds. "Spaniards" in celebration of the Georgia bicentennial celebration. Requiring months of study for its execution, the map is done in colors and presents a valuable outlay of historical data in artistic arrangement and style. Miss Cunningham, a member of the Georgia Association of Artists and her exhibits in the association's annual shows are the center of much attention and admiration. Her studio in the Studio Arts building is a favorite rendezvous for local artists, attracted both by her personal charm and the superior quality of her work. She makes her home here with her uncle, John Ashley Jones, at his East Fourteenth street residence.

Plan Other Stories.

Atlanta friends of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will be further interested in learning that they plan other stories for young people, which will doubtless meet with success. Mrs. Taylor is a descendant of prominent old New England families, and is as familiar with the interesting legends and folklore of that section of the country as Mr. Taylor is with that of the South. She is a graduate of Vassar, and is an accomplished French scholar, having spent much time in Paris, doing research work in the National library. She held an important position in the Atlanta branch of the Macmillan Company for several years, and through extensive promotion last fall was recalled to New York headquarters. Mr. Taylor, who is well known in the city through his repertory work on the staff of the Atlanta Journal, recently joined his wife in New York, where he will continue his newspaper work.

The book is a juvenile novel. Georgia has not been chosen before as the setting for a story for young people. With its legends of pirates and Spanish priests, and its memories of antebellum days told in the skillful and rapidly moving style of the authors, it has particular appeal for modern Georgia youth.

How Black-Draught Stops Bad Feeling

"I have taken Thedford's Black-Draught for about twelve years, when needed, for dizziness, and it is a wonderful medicine," writes Mrs. Elmer Leverett, of Carrier Mills, Ill. "I can usually tell when a headache is coming on by the bad taste in my mouth and dull feeling. If I begin taking Black-Draught then, I can keep off the headache."

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

I am a lonely woman of 27. My whole life has been sacrificed to an invalid mother. Five years ago I gave up my sweetheart because I could not take care of him. The second is that you find me too late to correct it, for he is married happily and has a little son. I can get no answer to my questions about anything. I feel an interest in him since my mother died. Won't you help me get a grip on myself? —J. C. L.

ANSWER:

The physical reaction from the strain of long nursing of an invalid is enough to account for the state of mind in which you find yourself, to say nothing of the grief you must feel at the loss of your mother. All this coupled with the fact that you are great, great mother to a son who is lost, it is natural for you to feel lonely and unhappy.

But, my dear girl, at 27 there is still a great deal of life left in you.

Give yourself time to recuperate

and then set about finding yourself a beau.

The first requisite is to to yourself, but to someone else, that you will be happier when you find the second is to make the most of your looks. Men find women with their eyes, since they are the most attractive part of a woman's face.

So, you must improve your own

and then set about finding yourself a beau.

Give yourself time to recuperate
